What teachers are saying about Flying Start to Literacy...

"Having paired books, fiction and non-fiction, is invaluable. Students at the beginner stage do not get enough exposure to non-fiction texts & this helps to address this. Reading the non-fiction first gives the students the vocabulary and context they need to engage fully with the text. The fiction text is also a second check point that the students understand the vocabulary & context, as well as checking that they can transfer information from one context to another. Excellent!"
Mal Cameron, Teacher, Prospect North Primary School

"I use most of the ideas from the Flying Start "Lesson Plans" especially comprehension, writing, word work, developing fluency & the Blackline Masters."
Carol Berryman, Teacher
